Mahendra Shah, born in 1945, migrated to the USA in '74. Originally an architect, Mahendra has been a successful entrepreneur and businessman for many years and an enthusiastic contributor to the Pittsburgh area Indian community. Over the years, he has recorded his humorous observations on the plight of the immigrant Indian in America in the form of cartoons and essays. Long appreciated, his work was originally published by Pittsburgh's local Gujarati publication and now appears in mediums all over the world, including Gujarat Samachar, Gurjari, Garavi Gujarat, Jain Digest, Gujarat Darpan and Pittsburgh Patrika. Most recently, Rediff.com's gujarati site featured Mahendra's cartoons in its Ame American Amdavadi section. Mahendra also has developed hobby of paintings concentrated specifically on Indian art.

They ought to show this on widescreen. Such a long title won't fit on a regular screen!

Birth of a cartoon

A friend e-mailed me a newspaper clipping which led me to draw these "Gadhda vaitaru" cartoons series. Notice how interestingly the birth of a cartoon takes place!

Mahendra Shah.

If you can't read or write..., then how you going to fight for your rights?
